These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order, they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels now in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation: Jacob Drummond, James B. PROSPECTUS

OF THE

MECHANICS' RECORD.

BY a vote of the late STATE CONVENTION OF MECHANICS, a Committee was authorized to issue a Prospectus for the publication, in the city of Bangor, of a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of the Mechanics of the State, and to be the organ of communication between the different Associations already formed, and the means of increasing their numbers and extending their influence

Agreeably to their instructions, the Committee now propose to their brethren, the Mechanics of Maine, the publication of a monthly periodical earnestly devoted to their interests—to all that concerns their social relations, their scientific attainments, and their progress in self-cultivation; a publication heartily engaged in disseminating a correct public sentiment regarding useful labor—in enlarging the boundaries of science, aiding in the improvement of the arts and in spreading useful information upon all subjects connected with education and the arts, as well as an organ of communication between the Mechanic Associations in the State.

It is confidently expected that the matter for each number will be furnished by the earnest thinkers in each of the Associations in the State and by men who are deeply interested in the onward progress of humanity, by means of a better and a wider spread intelligence among the people, and a broader extension of physical science and the mechanic arts.

The RECORD will be issued in a pamphlet form of convenient size for binding, upon good paper and a clear type, each number to contain as many pages as the amount of the subscription at the time of its publication will warrant.

TERMS. The RECORD will be furnished to each subscriber for one dollar a year in advance, and no subscriptions will be received without the pay ☞ Delegates to the State Convention, the officers of the several Mechanic Associations and mechanics generally are requested to aid in procuring subscribers and remitting the money, that the experiment so honorable to them, if successful, and so useful to the community may not fail for the want of their co-operation and influence It is expected, also, that each Association will take immediate measures to occupy a portion of the RECORD in those matters deemed of the greatest interest in advancing the cause which the mechanics in this State, for themselves, have so unanimously undertaken.

 The first number will be put to press as soon as notice is received of a sufficient subscription to sustain the publication.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE FAILING HOPE;
A Temperance Story.

BY T S ARTHUR.

'Shall I read to you, ma?' said Emma Martin, a little girl eleven years of age, coming up to the side of her mother, who sat in a musing attitude by the centre table, upon which the servant had just placed a light

Mrs Martin did not seem to hear the voice of her child; for she moved not, nor was there any change in the fixed, dreamy expression of her face.

'Ma,' repeated the child, after waiting for a few moments, laying, at the same time, her head gently upon her mother's shoulder

'What, dear?' Mrs Martin asked, in a tender voice rousing herself up

'Shall I read to you, ma?' repeated the child.

'No—yes, dear, you may read for me'—the mother said, and her tones were low, with something mournful in their expression.

'What shall I read ma?'

'Get the Bible, dear, and read to me from that good book, replied Mrs Martin

'I love to read in the Bible,' Emma said, as she brought to the centre table that sacred volume, and commenced turning over its pages—She then read chapter after chapter, while the mother listened in deep attention, after lifting her heart upwards and breathing a silent prayer. At last Emma grew tired with reading, and closed the book.

'It is time for you to go to bed, dear,' Mrs Martin observed, as the little girl showed signs of weariness

'Kiss me, ma,' the child said, lifting her innocent face to that of her mother, and receiving the token of love she asked So breathing her gentle 'Good night!' the affectionate girl glided off, and retired to her chamber

'Dear child!' Mrs Martin murmured, as Emma left the room; 'my heart trembles when I think of you, and look in the dark and dreadful future!'

She then leaned her head upon her hand, and sat in deep and evidently painful abstraction of mind. Thus she remained for nearly an hour, until aroused by the clock which struck the hour of ten

With a deep sigh she arose, and commenced pacing the room backwards and forwards, pausing every now and then to listen to the sound of approaching footsteps, and moving on again as the sound went by. Thus she continued to walk until near eleven o'clock, when some one drew near, paused at the street door, and then opening it, came along the passage with a firm and steady step

Mrs Martin stopped, trembling in spite of herself before the parlor door, which a moment after was swung open One glance at the face of the individual who entered, convinced her that her solicitude had been in vain

'Oh, James!' she said, the tears gushing from her eyes, in spite of a strong effort to compose herself, 'I am so glad that you have come!'

'Why are you so agitated Emma?' her husband said, in some surprise, looking enquiringly into Mrs Martin's face.

'You staid out so late—and you know I am foolish sometimes!' she replied, leaning her head down upon his shoulder, and continuing to weep.

A change instantly passed upon Mr. Martin's countenance, and he stood still for some time, his face wearing a grave thoughtful expression, while his wife remained with her head leaning upon him. At last he drew his arm tenderly around her, and said—

'Emma, I am a sober man.'

'Do not, dear James' speak of that. I am so happy now!'

'Yes, Emma, I will speak of it now' And as he said so, he gently seated her upon the sofa and took his place beside her.

'Emma,—he resumed looking her steadly in the face—'I have resolved never again to touch the accursed cup that has so well nigh destroyed our peace forever.'

'Oh James' What a mountain you have taken from my heart!' Mrs Martin replied, the whole expression of her face changing as sudden as a landscape upon which the sun shines from beneath an obscuring cloud. 'I have had nothing to trouble me but that—yet that one trouble has seemed more than I could possibly bear.'

'You shall have no more trouble, Emma—I have been for some months under a strong delusion, it has seemed But I am now fully awake, and see the dangerous precipice upon which I have been standing. This night I have solemnly resolved that I would drink no more spirituous liquors Nothing stronger than wine shall again pass my lips'

'I cannot tell you how my heart is relieved,' the wife said 'The whole of this evening I have been painfully oppressed with fear and dark forebodings Our dear little girl is now at that age, when her future prospects interest me all the while. I think of them night and day Shall they all be married? I have asked myself often and often. But I could give my heart no certain answer I need not tell you why'

'Give yourself no more anxiety on this point,' her husband replied. 'I will be a free man again. I will be to you and my child all that I have ever been

'May our Heavenly Father aid you to keep that resolution,' was the silent prayer that went up from the heart of Mrs Martin.

The failing hope of her bosom revived under this assurance She felt again as in the early years of their wedded life, when hope and confidence and tender affection were all in the bloom and vigor of their first development The light came back to her eye, and the smile to her lip

It was about four months afterwards, that Mr. Martin was invited to make one of a small party, given to a literary man, as a visiter from a neighboring city.

'I shall not be home to dinner, Emma,' he said, on leaving in the morning

'Why not, James?' she asked

'I am going to dine at four, with a select party of gentlemen.'

Mrs Martin did not reply, but a cloud passed over her face, in spite of an effort not to seem concerned.

'Don't be uneasy, Emma,' her husband said, noting this change. 'I shall touch nothing but wine. I know my weakness, and shall be on my guard'

'Do be watchful over yourself, for my sake, and for the sake of our own dear child,' Mrs Martin replied, laying her arm tenderly upon his shoulder.

'Have no fear, Emma,' he said, and kissing the yet fair and beautiful cheek of his wife, Mr Martin left the house

How long, how very long did the day seem to Mrs Martin! The usual hour for his return passed away, the dinner hardly tasted; and then his wife counted the hours as they passed lingeringly away, until the dim, grey twilight fell with a saddening influence around her

'He will be home soon, now,' she thought But the minutes glided into hours, and still he did not come The tea table stood in the floor until nearly nine o'clock, before Mrs Martin sat down with little Emma But no food passed the mother's lips She could not eat There was a strange fear about her heart—a dread of coming evil, that chilled her feelings, and threw a dark cloud over her spirits

In the meantime, Martin had gone to the dinner party, firm in his resolution not to touch a drop of ardent spirits But the taste of wine had inflamed his appetite, and he drank more and more freely, until he ceased to feel the power of his resolution, and again put brandy to his lips, and drank with the eagerness of a worn and thirsty traveler at a cooling brook It was nine o'clock when the company arose, or attempted to arise from the table, all of them could not accomplish that feat Three, Martin among the rest, were carried to bed, in a state of helpless intoxication

Hour after hour passed away, the anxiety of Mrs Martin increasing every moment, until the clock struck twelve

'Why does he stay so late?' she said, rising and pacing the room backwards and forwards This she continued to do, pausing every now and then to listen, for nearly an hour. Then she went to the door and looked long and anxiously in the direction from which she expected her husband to come But his well known form met not her eager eyes, that peered so intently into the darkness and gloom of the night With another long drawn sigh, she closed the door, and re-entered the silent and lonely room That silence was broken by the loud ringing of the clock. The hour was one! Mrs Martin's feelings now became too much excited for her to control them. She sank into her chair, and wept in silent anguish of spirit For nearly a quarter of an hour her tears continued to flow, and then a deep calm succeeded a kind of mental stupor, that remained until she was startled again into distinct consciousness by the sound of the clock striking two

All hope had now faded from her bosom Up to this time she had entertained a feeble hope that her husband might be kept away from some other cause than the one she so dreaded, but now that prop became only as a broken reed, to pierce her with a keener anguish.

'It is all over!' she murmured bitterly as she arose and commencing walking to and fro with slow and measured steps

It was fully three o'clock before that lonely, and almost heart broken wife and mother retired to her chamber How cruelly had the hope which had grown bright and buoyant in the last few gaining months, more strength and confidence every day, been again crushed to the earth!

For an hour longer did Mrs Martin sit, listening in her chamber, every thing around her so hushed into oppressive silence, that the troubled beating of her own heart, was distinctly audible But she waited and listened in vain. The sound of passing footsteps that now came only at long intervals, served but to arouse a momentary gleam in her mind, to fade away, and leave it in deeper darkness

Without disorbing she now laid herself down, and listening with an anxiety that grew more and more intense every moment. At last overwearied nature could bear up on longer, and she sunk into a troubled sleep When she awoke from this, it was daylight. Oh, how weary and worn and wretched she felt! The consciousness of why she thus lay, with her clothes unremoved, the sad remembrance of her hours of waiting and watching through nearly the whole night, all came up before her with painful distinctness. Who but she who has suffered, can imagaine her feelings at that bitter moment.

On decending the parlor, she found her husband lying in a half-stupid condition on the sofa, the close air of the room impregnated with his breath—the sickening disgusting breath of a drunken man! Bruised, crushed, paralyzed affection had now to lift itself up—the wife just ready to sink to the earth, powerless, under the weight of an overburdening affliction, had now to nerve herself under the impulse of duty.

'James' James!' she said, in a voice of assumed calmness—laying her hand upon him and endeavoring to arouse him to consciousness But it was a long time before she could get him so fully awake as to make him understand that it was necessary for him to go up stairs and retire to bed At length she succeeded in getting him into his chamber before the servants had come down, and then into bed Once there, he fell off again into a profound sleep.

'Is pa sick?' asked little Emma, coming into her mother's chamber about an hour after, and seeing her father in bed.

'Yes dear your father is quite unwell,' Mrs Martin said in a calm voice

'What ails him, ma?' pursued the child.

'He is not very well, dear, but will be better soon,' the mother said, evasively.

The little girl looked into her mother's face for a few moments unsatisfied with the answer, and unwilling to ask another question. She felt that something was wrong, more than the simple illness of her father

It was near the middle of the day when Mr. Martin became fully awake and conscious of his condition It he had sought forgetfulness of the past night's debauch and degradation, the sad, reproving face of his wife pale and languid from anxiety and watching, would too quickly have restored the memory of his fall.

The very bitterness of his self condemnation—the very keenness of wounded pride irritated his feelings, and made him feel gloomy and sullen. He felt deeply for his suffering wife—he wished most ardently to speak to her a word of comfort, but his pride kept him silent. At the dinner hour, he eat a few mouthfuls in silence, and then withdrew from the table and left the house to attend to his ordinary business. On his way to his office, he passed a hotel where he had been in the habit of drinking He felt so wretched—so much in the want of something to buoy up his depressed feelings, that he entered, and calling for some wine, drank two or three glasses This, in a few minutes, had the desired effect, and he repaired to his office feeling like a new man.

During the afternoon, he drank wine frequently, and when he returned home in the evening was a good deal under its influence, so much so, that all the reserve he had felt in the morning was gone He spoke freely with his wife—talked of future schemes of pleasure and success. But, alas! his pleasant words fell upon her heart like sunshine upon ice It was too painfully evident that he had again been drinking—and drinking to the extent of making him altogether unconscious of his true position She would rather a thousand times have seen him overwhelmed by remorse. Then there would have been something for her hope to have leaned upon.

Day after day did Mr. Martin continue to resort to the wine cup Every morning he felt so wretched that existence seemed a burden to him, until his keen perceptions were blunted by wine. Then the appetite for something stronger would be stimulated, and draught after draught of brandy would follow, until when night came, he would return home to agonize the heart of his wife with a new pang, keener than any that had gone before

Such a course of conduct could not be pursued without its becoming apparent to all in the house Mrs Martin had, therefore, added to the cup of sorrow, the mortification and pain of having the servants, and her bosom child daily conscious of his degredation Poor little Emma would shrink away instinctively from her father when he would return home in the evening and endeavor to lavish upon her his carresses Sometimes Mr Martin would get irritated at this.

FOR PRESIDENT,

OF KENTUCKY.

Lyceum—This Evening.

The Lyceum this evening will meet at the Rev. Mr. Pomroy's Church for the purpose of listening to a lecture by Elihu Burritt, Esq. of Worcester, widely and honorably known as the learned Blacksmith. Those who shall have the pleasure of hearing his lecture will be ready to acknowledge that he has obeyed the maxim "strike while the iron is hot," not less in the intellectual than in the business of his shop. He is a proof and an illustration of what may be accomplished by a wise union of labor and study. Indeed, we think his case proves that vastly more can be accomplished by a division of time between physical and mental labor, than by unremitting application in either. The mechanic in him finds an example to encourage him in his efforts to know as well as to do. The scholar also finds a proof in him that the best way to know is to do. The hands and the head, so to speak of them as the representatives of physical and mental labor, are mutually dependent for the greatest progress of the man in all good learning and intellectual power. This is an important point to have established, as it opens a wider field of effort and elevates labor, by making it a contributor to intellectual advancement.

Those who have not provided themselves with tickets for the Lyceum should attend to the matter now, and avail themselves of the rich treat to be offered to them this evening.

☞ There was a convention during several days last week in New York composed of the growers and manufactures of silk, and of those interested in this branch of business. A large number of letters from persons in different States was read and many important facts were laid before the convention, respecting the practicability of growing silk for our own consumption, and concerning many of the practical details of the business. It seems now to be fully settled as a practical fact that silk can be successfully raised wherever Indian corn can be raised.

The amount of money annually sent out of the country for silk is enormous and may all be kept at home by a vigorous and patriotic attention to the growth and manufacture of silk among our people. The specimens of manufactured silk exhibited at New York were much admired for their elegance and substantial character, and proved beyond all doubt that our country may safely engage in the enterprise of supplying the home demand for silk goods in all their varieties. This business will bring into profitable use the labor of woman of the young of the old and the infirm, as much of it is of a pleasant character and easily performed. Thus a new source of production can be opened and a new point of national independence be gained and a new source of personal and public prosperity be secured.

Brushes.

We have no means of ascertaining the amount annually paid by our citizens for the article of brushes of the different kinds in daily use. It cannot be very small and probably one half of the trade would handsomely support a neat manufactory employing half a dozen workmen If this be so, then it would be well certainly to have this branch of manufacture added to those in existence in our city. It would increase our population, add to the value of houses and stores —help the butcher and baker and grocer and shoe maker and tailor and hatter and printer and farmer and minister and doctor and lawyer! This is desirable. We are happy to say that Mr. Charles Withington has commenced the manufacture of brushes in this city; and as he is an accomplished workman he will be enabled to test the fact whether our people understand their true interest sufficiently to give encouragement to this branch of home manufacture by giving him their patronage. Those who saw specimens of his work at the late Agricultural Fair know that he has a good variety of brushes and those of beautiful finish as well as of a durable character. His shop is in the Granite Block, and those persons about to perchase will do well to give him a call.

Thomas Cornelius, (2d comer) 4 years in the States Prison.

Eliphalet Leavitt, (3d comer) 5 years in same.

James A. Mitchell, on 3 indictments, 5 years on all in same.

John Duffy, 3 months in House of correction.

Wm. Dwelly, 45 days in same.

In the case of Laury Cole, judgment was arrested and the prisoner ordered to recognise for his appearance before the Supreme Court.

The case of James Henassy was continued for sentence.

The case of George A. Stilkey and al. was continued on motion for a new trial.

The court rose yesterday, at noon.

We see it stated in the Baltimore and some of the Philadelphia papers, that the Potatoes in the neighborhood of those cities, are almost worthless. In some places the farmers have desisted from digging them, the warm rains of August and September have caused them to rot in the hill to such an extent that they were not worth digging.

☞ The driver of the western mail stage states that it was reported, at the time the stage left Portland, that an arrest had been made of the villain who raised up the rails upon the Rail-road, which caused the recent accident and death. He was a workman upon the road, and this information has been kept back by the person possessing it, thus far, through fear. We shall probably have particulars by the mail this evening.

☞ The people in Massachusetts are getting to be quite poetical, and, it must be confessed, turn their poetry to a useful end. It is common now for schools and societies occasionally to meet in some grove, and there, with nature's teachers of tree and river, of earth and sky, of flower and shrub, surrounding them, unitedly take lessons from all these and from each other—cultivate the social affections, and enjoy a delightful and improving pastime.

When a school house is built, the venerable fathers of the town or district are called upon to meet the youthful candidates for seats in such house, and to give them kind counsel; and old and young—parents and children—unite in a pleasant party to dedicate the school-house to knowledge and truth.

We like this mode of procedure. It is evident enough that we need more occasions for the people coming together and meeting each other face to face. The cultivation of good manners, if nothing else, requires something of this kind, for now when a few hundred people come together they are pretty sure to be annoyed by frequent instances of ill manners and rudeness. But good morals and kindly feelings are concerned in this matter. Besides, in dedicating a school house, the pupils who are to attend the school are likely to be impressed with the importance attached to the temple of learning, and to have a higher idea of the instructions given.

We are reminded that a beautiful school-house has been built in this city the present season and will soon be occupied by two of our schools.—Would it not be well for our school committee to make some preparation for dedicating the house by suitable exercises, and by a pleasant party, composed of the children who are to attend the schools, and their parents and friends?

☞ A friend recently returned from the Aroostook country informs us that he met many families moving into that country in the full confidence that in a few years they should possess good farms and enjoy the comforts of independence and the blessings of society in their new home. They are undoubtedly correct in this as that is a good farming country, land is cheap, and the economical and industrious habits that prevail there and the number of settlers that are taking up land all wear a hopeful appearance, and promise much for the future.

☞ From Florida the latest dates represent the negroes as still engaged in the perpetration of daring outrages. Seven of them recently ran away from St. Augustine, stole a boat and went South, taking refuge in the hammock groves at Key Biscayenne. From these they sallied forth and killed a settler there, whose house they plundered. His two children were found naked in the woods, and were removed to Indian Key.

Conservatism and Reform.

David Bugbee has received at his Bookstore, Mr Hedge's Discourse with the above title, it being an Oration pronounced before the Peucinian Society, Bowdoin College, Sept. 5, 1843—We hope to find time to read it to-day, and shall revert to it again.

Drowned at the entrance of the harbor of Valparaiso, Chili, west coast of South America, on the 2nd of July last, Alfred E. Beach, aged seventeen years, son of M. Y. Beach, editor of the New York Sun.

☞ There is no widow so utterly widowed in her circumstances as she who has a drunken husband—no orphan so perfectly destitute as he who has a drunken father.

☞ At a recent county convention in Essex county, Mass., a committee was appointed to invite Hon. Daniel Webster and Hon. Rufus Choate to address a mass meeting to be called for that purpose.

Singular Salt Depository.

An officer of the U. S. Dragoons, writing from Wachita river, Aug 5, gives the following statement of the salt plain of the prairies, which we copy from the Cincinnati Gazette:

"About 200 miles from Fort Gibson we came to the great salt plain. This was one object of our journey, and the sight was truly gratifying. The bed of the river (the Nescutunga) was widened being near six miles in width, and in length; the river running by one side of it, through a small channel in the sand, while this upper plain throughout was covered by a crust of salt as white as snow. We approached it through sand hills, and when within 4 or 5 miles of it, the plain looked like an immense salt lake which had dried up and left the salt in its bed. We found the salt to have a local origin. It come to the river in a creek which is very salt. This overflows the plain and leaves the water to crystalize on the surface. Heavy rains will wash the salt away; but the overflow from the creek comes at the same time to bring more salt water for crystalization. At this point we first began to find Buffalo.

Within two days' journey of the Great salt plain we came to the Salt Rock as it is called. We found it to be in the bed of the Semirone, a stream south of the one the great plain is on, and is an immense spring of salt water, rising at the base of a high clay hill, and boils up over a space of 160 acres, crystalyzing as fast as it reaches the surface, forming a rock of salt all over the cone, so hard that we broke our mattock in vain attempts to get a mass of it. The holes where the water comes out are lined with salt as far as the arm could reach.

☞ We say yes, to "M. M. D." but not by mail.

Men doat on this world, as if it were never to have an end, and neglect the next as if it were never to have a beginning.

The debt of Mississippi for the Planters' Bank bonds, $2,000,000, and the Union bank bonds $5,000,000, with the accrued and accruing interest can be paid, according to a calculation made by David Shelton, Esq. of Jackson, at the maturity of the debt, by laying a tax of little more than one-eight per cent on the assessed property of the State, equal to an increase of not quite 60 per cent; on the present tax, which even would be moderate compared with the taxation of other States. The Whigs of Mississippi are nobly battling for the honor of the State in this matter, and surely the people of that State will not, for such a paltry increase of tax suffer their faith to lie dishonored at the feet of foreign money lenders.

☞ Mr. Calhoun's organ, the Charleston Mercury, speaks thus of the prospects and pretensions of Mr. Van Buren :—

"Our deliberate conviction is, that he cannot be elected against Mr. Clay. What the Express says of the opposition to him in New York, is even more true as to the Southern States—that not a vote which was cast against him in 1840, but would be cast against him again. It is true that the Democratic Party have gained with the People in the last two years, but not Mr. Van Buren—one inch;—he is just as odious now to the majority that put him down in 1840, as he was then, and it is an odium no party device can overcome. His friends pretend to say he fell by his principles and for them—not so his principles fell by him. Mr. Van Buren's own want of manliness and elevation in statesmanship, and the utter unpopularity of the men he brought about him, and his confidential advisers; this it was broke him and his party down, and will break them down again, if he is chosen to be their leader. There is scarcely a Southern State which Mr. Clay could not carry against Mr. Van Buren. The same thing the late elections in the West show to be true there."

A Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce thus advises: "If any of your young men seek office this way, tell them in the words of General Jackson, 'If I had a son, I would sooner send him with an axe on his shoulder, to cut his way through the forest, than give him an office here.' This was said when thousands were at his disposal."

Mr. E. Brooks, of the New York Express, in one of his letters from Sweden, thus speaks of the soldiers of that country :—

"No where have I seen better or braver men, so far as one can form an opinion from appearance. The soldiers of Sweden compare favorably with the picked men of the most military of the European governments. They have great muscular strength, a good stature, and every way a fine appearance. The government is essentially military, and the discipline of the army most complete. A military king, who figured conspicuously for a short time as next to Napoleon, the most military man of the French nation, is the commander-in-chief of the troops. The Crown Prince also has a conspicuous command, and the sons of the Crown Prince all have military rank, and are educated to think the military service the first and best in the kingdom."

American Carriages.

Lord Ashburton is much pleased with his Philadelphia wagon and harness. Another English gentleman followed his example, and has recently received a wagon and harness from the same city. The Inquirer says:—"We have been favored with an opportunity of perusing the letter of the owner, written Sept. 1, shortly after his receipt of the articles. He expresses himself in terms of admiration of the workmanship of the wagon, and above all of the harness. The coach maker, he says, to whom he sent them from the custom house was in admiration of the iron work particularly of the carriage; and the harness maker who came to see the harness, declared it the most finished production he had ever examined. He said in England the cost of such work would be enormous. The letter proceeds to state that the wagon is wonderfully light, easy and clever, and that the writer is delighted with the whole concern; that the harness is really a picture, and that the tugs, the round reins and traces, and the collar, are the ne plus ultra."

Singular Electrical Phenomenon.

An English traveler through the Alps of Savoy whose work is reluctantly published, thus describes certain remarkable sounds caused by electricity. The atmosphere was very turbid, the ground was covered with half-melted snow, and some hail began to fall. We were perhaps 1,500 feet below the Col, still about 9000 above the sea, when I noticed a curious sound, which seemed to proceed from the Alpine pole with which I was walking. I asked the guide next me whether he heard it, and what he thought it was The members of that fraternity are very hard pushed indeed, when they have not an answer ready for any emergency. He therefore replied, with great coolness, that the rustling of the stick no doubt proceeded from a worm eating the wood in the interior! This answer did not appear to me to be satisfactory, and I therefore applied the experimentum crucis, of reversing the stick, so that the stick was now uppermost. The worm was already at the other end; I next held my hand above my head, and my fingers yielded a fizzing sound.—There could be but one explanation; we were so near a thunder cloud as to be highly electrified by induction I soon perceived that all the angular stones were hissing around us, like points near a powerful electric machine. I told my companions of our situation, and begged Damatter to lower his umbrella, which he had now resumed, and hoisted against the hail shower, and whose gay brass point was likely to become the paratonnerre of the party. The words were scarcely out of my mouth when a clap of thunder, accompanied by lightning, justified my precaution.

Things that I have seen.

I have seen a farmer build a house so large and fine, that the Sheriff turned him out of doors.

I have seen a young man sell a good farm, turn merchant, break and die in an insane hospital

I have seen a farmer travel about so much that there was nothing at home worth looking after.

I have seen a rich man's son begin where his father left off—wealthy; and end where his father began—pennyless.

I have seen a worthy farmer's son idle away years of the prime of life, in dissipation, and end his career in the poor house.

I have seen the disobedience of a son "bring down the grey hairs of his father to the grave."

Lord Campbell is the only peer who has at all distinguished himself at the session just closed. The learned lord was formerly a reporter on the Morning Chronicle newspaper, and, having become a member of the bar, by great industry and ability, worked himself through the offices of Solicitor General, Attorney General, and Lord Chancellor of Ireland, during the several administrations of the Whigs When in the Commons he failed as a speaker, but in the Lords he has quite established a fame.

Steam Clocks.

The Pittsburg American remarks;—We see it mentioned as a great curiosity, that a clock, which goes by steam, has been erected somewhere in the east. They have been for seven or eight years in this city, we believe in different factories. Messrs. Avey & Arbuckle have one which has been running for the last 8 or 10 years, and has been regarded for all that time, as the regulating clock of the neighborhood,

Beauty of Death.

The rose in all its early bloom
Is beautiful and bright—
Its blossoms breathe a rich perfume,
And waken sweet delight.

The lake is fair, when in repose
Beneath the noon-beams clear,
And, while its mirror'd surface glows,
A thousand charms appear.

Endearing is the youthful face,
And lovely to behold;
No living charm can match the grace,
Its blooming looks unfold.

But nothing, which is seen below,
That feels life's genial breath,
So much angelic worth can show,
As the sweet smile of death.

Of death, that rests on childhood's cheek,
That closes childhood's eye,
And bids the lips of marble speak
The truths, which cannot die.

Expression, so divine and sweet,
To life cannot be giv'n—
There, innocence and beauty meet,
And show both Earth and Heav'n.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

FOR THE REMOVAL AND PERMANENT CURE OF ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, OR HABIT OF THE SYSTEM, NAMELY:

Scrofula, or King's Evil, rheumatism, obstinate cutaneous eruptions, pimples, or pustules on the face, blotches, biles, chronic sore eyes, ring worm or tetter, scald head, enlargement and pain of the bones and joints, stubborn ulcers, syphilitic symptoms, sciatica, or lumbago, and diseases arising from an injudicious use of the mercury, ascites, or dropsy, exposure or imprudence in life. Also, chronic constitutional disorders will be removed by this preparation.

The proprietors submit to the public the following certificate, from a highly respectable source, of a cure made by using their preparation of Sarsaparilla, which cannot but have the effect of placing beyond all doubt the curative powers of the medicine.

NEW YORK, August 3, 1842.

"Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: Under a feeling sense of gratitude inherent to us all when suddenly relieved from suffering and disease. I now, as an act of justice due to you, and with a view of relieving the afflicted, make known to the world the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from England in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the passage first discovered the disease which after proved to be a sore affliction; and truly I can say, 'from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot there was no soundness in me.' From the time first mentioned down until the present, a period of more than ten years, I have suffered all that human nature was capable of bearing. I have been under the care of the most distinguished physicians both in this country and in England, visited Bath, Cheltenham, Bristol and Gloucester, tried various specifics, among others a large quantity of Swaim's Panacea, used sulphur baths, &c. As a last resort I was induced to wrap myself in a tar ointment, keep myself secluded, shunned by all, myself also shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hopeless one.

In August last, by the advice of friends, I went to the New York City Hospital, but was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter ran, and life itself became almost a burden. A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommended, having spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars, I am well. Yes, I certify and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffering more than can be told, I was perfectly cured by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilla; and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted. Those wishing to know further particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.

PAUL BURDOCK."

Prepared and sold by A. B. SANDS & Co. Druggists and Chemists, Granite Buildings, 273 Broadway, corner of Chambers street, New York. And for sale by Druggists throughout the United States. Price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5.

The public are respectfully requested to remember that it is Sands's Sarsaparilla that has and is constantly achieving such remarkable cures of the most difficult class of diseases to which the human frame is subject, and ask for Sands's Sarsaparilla, and take no other.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED MEDICINES.
FOSTER'S EGYPTIAN BALM OF LIFE,
OR NATURE'S GRAND AND GENIAL AUXILIARY.

A SPECIFIC for Consumption, Great Bodily Debility, Old and firmly Rooted Coughs, Flatulency, Indigestion and Bilious Disorders, Costiveness and Diarrhœa, Scorbutic and Scrofulous Affections and Female Complaints.

The Egyptian Balm of Life being an invaluable Family Medicine, should not be neglected in the Spring and Fall by any member of a family, as a Grand Auxiliary to the efforts of nature, in throwing off superfluous humors, generated in the winter and summer months, thus preventing as well as otherwise curing the above distressing maladies, and giving a healthy tone and proper action to all the grand operations of the system.

This Medicine has long sustained an unrivalled character for excellency in the private practice of many eminent practitioners in Europe, yet only lately at the same time undivulged to the possession of the individual of whom it has been purchased.

It is now exerting a similar influence on this side of the Atlantic, and is recommended to those who may be laboring under any of the diseases for which it is designed as a specific, and also as a preventive of disease, on its first appearance.

For a more particular description of the above medicine we would refer to the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Many valuable certificates might be produced of the benefit received therefrom. Hundreds in the State of Maine, as well as in other States, can testify to its superior efficacy, but the proprietor is willing for the public to judge for themselves by trial. A few names however, are referred to in the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Foster's Celebrated Nerve Ointment,

For the cure of Sprains, Bruises, Cramp, Rheumatism, Contracted Muscles, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Pain in the Breast, Back or Joints, Throat Distemper, the Piles, &c.

The general testimony concerning this Ointment, from those who have proved its merits, is, that it is too valuable a medicine to be neglected. And indeed we might fill a book of an hundred pages in giving incidents of its happy effects on the suffering.

N. B. The above Medicines are prepared only by W. A. Greenough, Portsmouth, N. H., and sold wholesale and retail by him.

Also, sold wholesale and retail by G. W LADD, Bangor; sold also by Eld. C. Rigby & J. Knowlton, Newburg, Winthrop Frost, Lincoln, S. Lang, Palmyra; H. G. O. Washburn & Co. Statements honest, plain and true. Will you believe and profit by them, or neglect and suffer.

THIS Balm or Salve will be found unlike any other preparation. There is no Fiction or Imagination in its qualities. It will cure any sore that can be cured at all. It will take out inflammation, and take down swellings; and by thorough friction over the parts externally, will by counter irritation, remove inward soreness to the surface.

A YOUNG WOMAN, for years afflicted with a running sore, called a fever sore, cured by the use of this Balm in about three weeks.

A CHILD, with great hoarseness and difficult breathing, relieved and cured by rubbing it well on the chest and stomach, and covering a flannel with the Balm and laying it over the breast.

A JUDGE of one of our courts had piles several months without knowing the name of his complaint; he used one flask of this Balm and was cured.

A GENTLEMAN who had an attack of piles every year regularly for ten years, cured himself five years since by this Balm, and though plainly threatened at least fifty times since, has kept off an attack by rubbing on the Balm when any uneasiness, soreness, or fulness is felt about the parts.

A PRISONER cut a frightful gash in his foot with a piece of broken glass; he was cured in a few days by the Balm. The same bottle cured all the sore fingers, legs and feet in the prison.

AT THE ASYLUM for Aged and Indigent Females, it has been used with signal success. One of the lady patronesses, Mrs Nixen, has left her name, and wished sufferers referred to these facts.

NO MAN OR WOMAN can possibly have the PILES if they use this Balm well when they feel any uneasiness about the parts. It is far better to prevent than cure any calamity or ailing.

DIRECTIONS, &C., FOR ITS USE.

FOR THE PILES—If the parts are very sore, reduce a little of the Balm by mixing half lard with it. After one or two trials that way, you must use it without reducing it. You never can use too much at a time—if a whole bottle could be absorbed in two applications, by long friction, it would be all the better.

IF COSTIVE, use it well before going to stool—this will do wonders.

TO PREVENT any attack of the Piles, you must use it whenever you feel a fulness of the parts, and an attack will be impossible. Hundreds thus keep off this dreadful complaint entirely.

INTERNAL PILES

May be reached by injecting it with a syringe, with a large open point to it. This syringe, made expressly for injecting this, and the Dalley's salve, or Hays' liniment, may be found with those who sell these articles. See drawing. Or in some cases may be reached with the finger, or covered with a piece of silk smeared with the Liniment.

PROJECTING PILES.

That won't return at all, may be reduced by white lead, ground in oil, and put on over-night, say a spoonful from a paint shop.

VERY COLD WATER should be applied by washing the parts well after stools, particularly if just before bed-time.

In very old cases of Piles, when there is apparently a deposit and discharge from the parts, or when the parts are very sore or inflamed, use "DALLEY'S PAIN EXTRACTOR" alternately with the "CELESTIAL BALM," and your cure is certain. Use the syringe.

Hoarseness, etc.

IN DIFFICULT BREATHING—Spread it on linen or flannel, and lay it on the breast, after having rubbed the breast well with it—the relief will be felt directly. So with Coughs, and especially with Hoarseness, or Sore Throat—rub till the skin becomes tender, then spread it on flannel, and bind it on, and you may depend it will cure you. If you do not believe it now, you will when you have once tried it.

Rheumatism.

RHEUMATISM, and all pain in the joints, and stiffness, must be cured by it by rubbing the parts until the skin becomes tender, and then binding more on well with flannel.

WRIGHT'S
☞INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS☜
Of the North American College of Health.

NATURAL PRINCIPLES. It is written in the book of nature and common sense, that the natural vegetable productions of every country are, if properly applied, amply sufficient for the cure of every malady incident to that clime.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are composed of plants which grow spontaneously on our own soil, and are therefore better adapted to our constitutions than medicines concocted from foreign drugs, however well they may be compounded; and as they are founded upon the principle that the human body is in truth subject to viz., Corrupt Humors, or in other words, Impurity, and cure every form of this one disease, on natural principles, that is, by Cleansing and Purifying the body, it must be plain to every reflecting mind that a perseverence in the use of the medicine, according to directions, will be absolutely certain to drive every malady from the body.

When we wish to restore a swamp or morass to fertility, do we not drain it of the superabundant water? In like manner, if we would restore the body to health, we must cleanse it of impurity.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS will be found a delightful medicine for carrying out this grand purifying principle, because they expel al morbid and corrupt humors, the cause of disease, in an easy and natural manner; and while they every day disease of every name is rapidly driven from the body.

Beware of Counterfeits!

The patrons of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are cautioned against being deceived by medicine purporting to be Indian Pills, manufactured by one A. L. Norcross who is traveling about the country, endeavoring by every artifice to palm off his worthless trash for the genuine.

It should be remembered that all genuine medicine has the title expressed in full on the sides of the boxes thus:

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS (INDIAN PURGATIVE,)
Of the North American College of Health.

And that all Traveling Agents are provided with a Certificate of Agency, signed by William Wright, Vice President of the N. A. Coll. of Health. All travelers, therefore, who offer Indian Pills for sale, and cannot show a certificate of Agency, as above described, will be known as wicked impostors.

Purchasers will further remember that the counterfeiters in the hope of evading the law, have omitted the name of "Wright," and substituted some word in its place; that the medicine must have "WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS" on the sides of the boxes; and that all with the above omission are positively spurious.

And also around the border of the label, will be found in small type, "Entered according to the Act of Congress in the year 1840, by WM. WRIGHT in the Clerk's Office of the District Court, of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania."

It will further be observed that the printed directions for using the medicine, which accompanies each box, are also entered according to Act of Congress; and the same form will be found at the bottom of the first page.

The public will also remember, that all who sell the genuine Indian Vegetable Pills are provided with a certificate of Agency, signed by

WILLIAM WRIGHT, VICE PRESIDENT
Of the North American College of Health

Thus it will be seen, that a trifling attention on the part of the purchaser to the above particulars, will put an effectual stop to this wholesale robbery, and drive, it is hoped, all depredators upon society to an honest calling.

The following highly respectable persons have been appointed agents for the sale of the above in valuable medicine.

PAGE'S VEGETABLE SYRUP
FOR FEMALES, ENCEINTE.

THE following gentlemen are the authorised Agents for selling the above mentioned valuable medicine,—a medicine worthy the confidence of the public, and should be used by every female about to become a mother. It is invaluable in relieving the pains of Lying-in women, as has been proved by hundreds of ladies who have used it, and by many physicians who prescribe it in their practice. There is nothing deleterious in its composition, and the most delicate female in any condition may take it with perfect safety. The price of it in nearly all cases where used is more than saved by the mother getting up, and recovering her strength so as to be able to dismiss her nurse one to two weeks sooner than in ordinary cases. All persons wishing for further information respecting it, are referred to a pamphlet of a dozen or more pages accompanying the medicine (which may be had gratis of any agent,) containing some general remarks upon the subject, proper and important to be read by all females, also several letters from physicians who have prescribed it, and from other gentlemen whose wives have used it.

DR. J. D. BUZZELL'S
CELEBRATED FAMILY MEDICINES

THESE Medicines are purely Vegetable, and extensively used in various parts of the United States, the British Provinces and the West Indies.

They are particularly intended for the removal of Chronic diseases, such as habitual or periodical Headache, Catarrh, Consumption of the lungs, various affections of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys, urinary vessels, glands, &c. Dropsy, Rheumatism, Gout, and some of the preparations, viz: the Bilious Bitters, Pills, Jaundice Mixture, and anti-acid powders. When generally used, their effect is opening obstructions, removing all morbid and offensive matter from the stomach and bowels, which he has reason to think is always their effect in all cases within the control of medicines. They operate as preventives in various epidemical diseases, such as Intermittent, Inflammatory, Bilious, and common Typhus fevers, Inflammations of the Lungs, Bowels, Pleura, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhea, &c.; also as preventives to some contagious diseases, such as Yellow, Scarlet and Putrid fevers, and although there are some contagious diseases which they are not capable of preventing, such as small pox, measles, hooping cough, &c. yet he, from many years experience, has become confident, that all those who contract any of those diseases, while under the influence of these medicines, taken in such doses as to keep up and maintain a healthy action in the secretory and excretory vessels of the digestive organs, are but slightly affected, and are easily managed—whereas, on the contrary, doubtless in many cases, they would prove not only distressing, but uncontrollable and dangerous

Vegetable Bilious Bitters.

Prepared exclusively at his Dispensary in Cape Elizabeth, near Portland, Me. These Bitters are particularly serviceable in all cases of obstruction of the stomach and bowels, and in chronic affections of the liver, and particularly serviceable where there is a loss of appetite.

Vegetable Bilious Pills.

These Pills are intended to remove all Bilious Obstructions, regulate the Secretions of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Kidneys, and to restore a healthy action in the digestive organs, by removing all unhealthy matter from the elementary canals.

Jaundice Mixture.

This Mixture will be found a speedy and safe cure for Jaundice, and of singular service in all cases where the bowels have lost their proper tone, or have become torpid, attended with obstinate obstructions. It is also an efficacious remedy for biles, and for which the directions accompanying the medicine are to be strictly observed.

Hemorrhoidal, or Pile Powder.

This medicine may be relied upon to give immediate relief; and their use persevered in, will effect a certain cure.

Compound Strengthening Plaster.

A local weakness, or a pain in the chest, stomach, side, or back, will, in most cases, be removed by the application of this plaster to the part affected.

Ointment, for the Cure of Cutaneous Eruptions.

A few sparing applications of this ointment, morning and evening, will be found a safe and efficacious remedy in all cutaneous eruptions. It is a remedy for eruptions of the face, with which children are so often afflicted, and even in cases of scald head, a loathesome affection of the head, in which state it is covered with a continuous scab, it is a safe application, effecting a cure. It will generally cure that troublesome and truly perplexing humor, called by many the Barber's or Jackson Itch; observing in all cases, to take the ANTI-ERUPTIVE and COOLING POWDER, according to its accompanying directions.

Cough Mixture.

A remedy for all coughs proceeding from colds, asthma, chronic catarrhs, consumption, influenza, and inflammation of the lungs or pleurea. It is also found very useful in ameliorating the violence of hooping cough.

For a more full and particular description of disease, and the medicine to be applied, I beg leave to refer you to my Circular, in pamphlet form, which may be found wherever the medicines are for sale, and to the remarks accompanying them.

LOZENGES! LOZENGES!

FALES'S Cough, Worm, Headache, and Diarrhœa or Dysentary LOZENGES are safe, certain and agreeable remedies for the diseases for which they are recommended.

Numerous, speedy and surprising cures have been effected by their use, hence their popularity.

Dyott's Oracle of Health, (Philadelphia) says that Fales's Medicated Lozenges are considered by those who have used them, to be far superior to Sherman's or any other introduced into that market.

THE COUGH LOZENGES

Are beneficial in all cases of common colds, hooping cough, asthmatic affections, inflammations of the throat and lungs; they are also particularly beneficial for the croup, and a very good substitute for the celebrated Hive Syrup, Cough Candies, Quincy Cordials Pulmonary Balsams, &c.

THE WORM LOZENGES

Are a safe and sure remedy for Worms. Twice three is a dose for very small children, and five or six for larger ones.

THE DYSENTERY LOZENGES

Are a certain and agreeble remedy for Dysentery, Diarrhœa and bowel complaints of children.—Full directions as to diet and manner of taking them, accompany each box.

THE HEADACHE OR CAMPHOR

Lozenges are beneficial in cases of nervous headache, in feverous affections of a typhus character. They are useful in Rheumatism and peripneumony, also in eruptive diseases, to favor the eruption or bring it back when it has suddenly receded from the skin, as sometimes happens in measles and small pox.

FALES'S CYPRIAN* HAIR TONIC;
FOR THE GROWTH, PRESERVATION AND RESTORATION OF THE HAIR.

No matter how bald a person may be, a growth of hair will be produced, and as naturally too, as the herbage grows on the plain, or the lily in the valley. This tonic is warranted to cleanse the hair from Dandruff, and every other accumulating substance. Is your hair dry and falling off?—the tonic will moisten and fix it strongly in the head. Is your hair thin or your head bald?—the tonic is warranted to satisfy the largest desires in thickening the hair in the first case, and covering the Bald Head with natural hair in the second.

It is composed of those remedial agents that restore the skin at once to a sound and healthy condition: when thus restored, you will soon discover on the head a short, soft, and beautiful growth of young hair gradually increasing in length, till it becomes as your other hair was before you began to lose it.

*The question is often asked, from what is the word Cyprian derived? Ans.—from the word Cyprus, the name of a beautiful island in the Mediterranean sea.—The inhabitants of that far famed island, are as well known for their fine glossy hair, as for their bright brilliant eyes. It is known, however, that any other people, except those of Cyprus, have never used this Tonic, until its introduction into the United States.
